5 Amazon Affiliate Mistakes Costing You Money

SLIDES

SLIDE 1

You're sharing the wrong link

Your US Amazon link earns $0 from UK, AU, CA fans. They hit an error page or the wrong store.

SLIDE 2

You're not in the right programs

Amazon UK, AU, CA are separate affiliate programs. If you're only in Associates US — you're losing.

SLIDE 3

You're not tracking your clicks

Do you know which platform drives your sales? TikTok? Pinterest? Instagram? You need to know.

SLIDE 4

You only use Amazon

Charlotte Tilbury, Sephora, ASOS, LTK all pay higher commission. You're leaving 10-15% on the table.

SLIDE 5

You don't have a link-in-bio storefront

One link in bio → all your products, all countries. Most creators send fans to a random page.

SLIDE 6

I Was Losing Money From My UK Followers

SCRIPT (speak naturally — don't read word for word)

HOOK (0-3 sec)

Point at camera: "I didn't realise I was losing commission from my UK followers until I actually checked."

PROBLEM (3-15 sec)

"So I have [X]k followers right, and a big chunk of them are in the UK and Australia. And every single time they clicked my Amazon link — nothing. Zero. The link just didn't work for them. I was getting clicks but zero commission."

RELATE (15–25 sec)

"And the worst part? I'd been posting for months thinking I was earning. I had no idea this was even a thing. Amazon Associates UK, US, Australia — they're all separate programs. Your US link just doesn't work in the UK."

SOLUTION (25–40 sec)

"So I found this tool called LinkGlobe. You paste your product link, it gives you one smart link. Anyone who clicks — UK, US, Australia, Canada — they all get sent to their local store with your affiliate tag. I set it up in like 10 minutes."

CTA (40–50 sec)

"Link in bio. It's free to start. If you've got international followers at all, you need this. Drop 'UK' below if you've got British followers."

CAPTION

I thought I was earning from every click. Turns out I was earning from maybe 40% of them 📊
Fixed it with @linkglobe — link in bio. If you have ANY international followers you need to watch this.

📽️ Film this in one take, casual. Imperfect is fine — authenticity is what makes this go viral. Start mid-sentence if possible: "I didn't realise..." — don't say "Hey guys".

Look Where My Clicks Are Coming From 📊

WHAT TO FILM / SCREENSHOT

Screen 1

Your LinkGlobe dashboard → Analytics tab → Countries breakdown. Shows flags and click percentages.

Screen 2

The earnings estimate card — show the dollar amount your international clicks are worth.

Screen 3

A single product geo-link — show UK, US, AU, CA all going to different stores.

Voiceover

"Look at this. 34% of my clicks are from the UK. Before LinkGlobe I was earning ZERO from all of these."

CAPTION

POV: you check your click analytics and realise 30% of your audience is in the UK and you've been earning $0 from them this whole time 📊 This is exactly why I switched to @linkglobe. One link. Every country. Finally earning from ALL my followers.

📊 Real data = real trust. Showing actual numbers (even small ones) builds credibility faster than any claim. Don't worry if the numbers are small — the concept is what matters.

Things No One Tells You About Affiliate Marketing as a UK Creator

SLIDES

SLIDE 1

Your US link is costing you money

Every UK, AU, CA fan who clicks your US Amazon link earns you nothing. This is the biggest hidden leak.

SLIDE 2

You need to join EVERY Amazon program

Amazon UK, Amazon AU, Amazon CA are separate. You sign up for each one at associates.amazon.co.uk etc.

SLIDE 3

Commission rates vary massively by category

Fashion: 10%. Electronics: 1%. Knowing this changes what you promote. Always check the rate table first.

SLIDE 4

Your bio link is losing you clicks

Sending people to your Amazon storefront page loses international fans. A geo-smart link keeps them.

SLIDE 5

Brands pay more than Amazon

Rakuten, AWIN, ShareASale brands often pay 8-20% vs Amazon's 1-4%. Diversify your affiliate stack.

SLIDE 6

One tool fixes most of this linkglobe.co handles geo-routing automatically. Free to start. I wish I'd found it sooner.

CAPTION

UK affiliate creators — save this 📌 Nobody told me any of this when I started and I lost months of earnings because of it. If you've got followers outside the UK (and you do), sort your links today. Happy to answer questions below 📌
